

Learning iMovie On Your Own

To learn iMovie on your own, there are some excellent, comprehensive resources on the Apple web site. If you are new to iMovie and need to learn the software on your own, watching these online tutorials are highly recommended.

1. Go to the iMovie HD in the Learning Center:

http://www.mac.com/1/learningcenter/Modules/imFirstMovie_index.html

The screenshot shows a web browser window titled "Make Your First Movie" with the URL http://www.mac.com/1/learningcenter/Modules/imFirstMovie_index.html. The browser's address bar and search bar are visible. Below the browser window, the page content is displayed. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the "Learning Center" logo and the text "Get More Out of Your Mac". Below this, there is a "Main Menu | iMovie HD" section. The main content area features a large image of the iMovie HD interface, showing a project window with various clips and a clapperboard. To the right of the image, there is a section titled "Make Your First Movie" with the following text: "When you make a movie, you tell a story and create a memory that will last forever. Your story is made up of scenes, which can include video clips, still images, and music." Below this, there is another paragraph: "With iMovie HD, you can easily arrange your clips in the order that best tells your story. To change the story, you can simply cut out the parts you don't like or rearrange the order of your clips. It's that easy." At the bottom of the page, there are links for "View printable version | Provide feedback" and a breadcrumb trail: "Learning Center Main Menu > iMovie HD > Make Your First Movie > Introduction". The footer contains the copyright notice: "Copyright © 2005 Apple Computer, Inc. All rights reserved."